

Part Time, Intern Meteorologist Position Available Beginning This Fall

WeatherWorks LLC, an AEM Brand, is a private weather consulting firm specializing in innovative forecast solutions with expertise in the snow and ice industry. Additionally, WeatherWorks “Certified Snowfall Totals” is the nation’s leading snow and ice verification service. WeatherWorks is seeking qualified candidates interested in applying for a part time, paid position from November 2024 to March 2025. This provides great experience in the private industry, and can potentially lead to full-time employment in the future.

The position would allow for those hired to work remotely and requires monitoring of winter weather around the country to create snow and ice verification reports. Candidates must be responsible in an independent environment and possess an awareness of time constraints and deadlines. Average work time will be around 10 hours per week. The schedule is flexible, as long as deadlines are met. Sufficient computing hardware is required. For more information, visit certifiedsnowfalltotals.com.

If you are interested in applying for this position or would like additional information contact Robert Reale at careers@weatherworksinc.com. To apply, please email a resume, cover letter, and college transcript by Friday, September 20th.

Minimum Qualifications:

- Graduate or Senior Meteorology / Atmospheric Science major, although Juniors will be considered
- Sound working knowledge of weather processes
- Fluent knowledge and understanding of the METAR code and surface observations
- Familiarity of climate data from sources including NOAA, NCDC, and mesonet stations
- Good written and personal communication skills
- Excellent time management skills